ABSTRACT

Application of Jesus' Counseling Principles to Samaritan Women in John 4:1-42 to Help Youth Who Are Experiencing the Problem of Faith Growth (Case Study of the House Church at GPII EBEN HAEZER). The method used in this research is the case study method (pastoral counseling) which is a qualitative research. In this thesis, the author will describe the approach used by Jesus in the midst of societies that have complex social and cultural problems such as those faced by Samaria women in the Gospel of John 4. Jesus broke through the gap by giving them a new understanding that the most important thing is to hear about the gospel of salvation.
